

Attention: All Dene Tha' Students

The DTFN Department of Education, Lands Department and Economic Development Announces The DTFN Summer Archaeological Field School for Dene Tha' Youth

The Dene Tha' First Nation Education Department is planning to hold a one week archaeological field school in Chateh in mid-July and another one week field program in Meander in mid-August.

This field school will involve training in archaeological field techniques and actual archaeological surveys around Chateh and Meander. You will learn about your past and develop a well-rounded appreciation of Dene Tha' history and prehistory. You will also receive a small stipend for your participation. If you are a DTFN member with a high school diploma, or a DTFN school student in good standing, and if you ever wanted to be the next "Indiana Jones," this opportunity may be for you. However, spaces are limited.

How To Apply

You may apply by filling in the Summer Student Application forms that are on-line at www.denetha.ca under the Careers tab. You can also get a copy of the materials at each band office receptionist desk.
